

okay...I got HDTV, I got a VCR to record programs for later viewing, I don't have time to watch right now, however, I paid for a service that delivers the program to me on my expensive television and now the broadcast would like to tell me no I can not record it for future viewing.

what a joke...haven't we been here before..... if this passes, I guess I'll have to just stop watching tv all together, bet the advertisers won't like that.

copyrighting content that is put on the airway is not the answer? They are trying to step on my right to use my time how I would like to use it. It isn't like I'm selling the recording for a profit. in fact it'll be recorded over next week.

I just want to watch what I want when I want please don't allow broadcasters to dictate when I watch an advertising supported program that I'm paying to have delivered to my house in HDTV each month and in the cost of the TV

my two cents
